COUNCIL MEETS

Commission Named to Trace Frontiers of Saare Basin.

(By Associated Press.)
Paris, Jan. 16.—Representatives of France, Great Britain, Italy, Greece, Belgium, Spain, Japan, and Brazil, members of the council of the league of nations, met in the "Clock room" of the French foreign office at 10 o'clock this morning for the first meeting in the history of the league.

The council elected Leon Bourgeois chairman and confirmed the choice of Sir Eric Drummond of Great Britain as general secretary.

The first official act was the appointment of a commission to trace upon the spot the frontiers of the territory of the Saare basin.

The council of the league of nations received the first formal protest to be presented to it almost before it had begun its work. The protest was against the "Olefinic Duty" against the "pretended league of nations" and declared the league to be an attempt to perpetuate English hegemony throughout both hemispheres.

The protest insisted that the league was illusory and incomplete, lacking authority and sanction and declared that the United States stood out in indignation and repudiation of it.

Regrets Wilson's Absence.

DUMPING GROUND FOR "SOVIET ARK'S" RADICALS, QUESTION

(By Associated Press.)
Helsinki, Jan. 15.—Radical agitators deported from America will be permitted to enter Russia, according to a statement made to the correspondent of the Associated Press by M. Kilius, secretary of the soviet delegation at Dorpat. M. Kilius and his colleague, M. Benckendorf, were asked what Russia would have been made, however, to entrain to Europe on board the soviet "ark" Buford. They professed to be uninformed on the subject but said: "Whether these people are admitted to be used as a dumping ground for agitators from America."

Officials are still waiting at Hango for some word from the Finnish government regarding the disposition of Emma Goldman and her party, they will be kept on board. Arrangements have been made, however, to entrain the party for the Finnish border. It is stated United States immigration officials who are aboard the Buford will accompany them to the frontier.

Finland in accepting custody of the party said to be planning to use the prominent members for the purpose of securing the exchange of Finnish political prisoners held in soviet Russia. Whether the admission will be turned loose between the Finnish and soviet lines to shift the best they can.

Here, Boy! Pass the Cigars Again—and Boy! Some Matches

When should a tobacco grower who doesn't use the weed tell a group of men not to smoke?

Never, says the board of supervisors.

When Supervisor Wilson Lane, Janesville, tried to have the chairman of the board stop the members from smoking in session yesterday afternoon, not only was he howled down but those who had not been smoking previously lit up any calls were made for the sergeant-at-arms to bring some matches.

Even the discovery by Mr. Lane that an old resolution is on file prohibiting smoking in most of the city hall.

M. D. Moutar told of the effect of a change in grade crossings upon the general community and emphasized the necessity for safeguarding human lives. He pointed out the disadvantages of the present crossings and the advantages of the proposed change. He said that the city would be a safer place and that the property owners of the wards laying across the tracks were placed because of the inaccessibility of the present crossings.

The campaign for safe grade crossings urged every citizen who was interested in the movement to be present at the state railroad commission hearing next Wednesday. It is planned to have the citizens present at 1:30 o'clock when their side of the matter can be presented.

FRESH WATER FLOODS THREATEN HOLLAND

(By Associated Press.)
The Hague, Wednesday, Jan. 14.—Unless the Rhine, the Maas, and other rivers speedily subside, Holland will be threatened by one of the greatest fresh water floods in its history. The recent high water weakened the emergency dykes and the present high water greatly endangers them.

Arnhem and Nymegen resemble Venice, the water having mounted to the first story of the houses. The rivers were still rising today.

SIMPLIFIED COURT PROCEDURE IS URGED

(By Associated Press.)
New York, Jan. 16.—Further simplification and expediting of court procedure to obviate imperfections on which radicals base attacks upon the American form of government, were urged today by Henry W. Taft, president of the New York State Bar association, in an address at the organization's forty-third annual convention.

Taft devoted special attention to the administration of justice to the poor in large cities. Bitterly arraigning the cunning and insidious "legalism" of bohemianism in the United States, Mr. Taft expressed the conviction that educational measures were the best means of combating it.

Traditions of Post War Boom in Births Fall Flat

(By Associated Press.)

Statistics of the prefecture of police show the rate is still sinking. The number of births in Paris in the last year, 1919, was 11,000, the lowest since 1914.

Poorer quarters of the city show a higher percentage than the homes of the wealthier citizens.

Other matters taken up were merely routine.

Tiger Is Voted Out In Caucus

(By Associated Press.)
Paris, Jan. 16.—Premier Georges Clemenceau went down to defeat at the hands of his countrymen today in a caucus of the senate and chamber of deputies to choose a candidate for the presidency of the republic. M. Clemenceau thereupon announced his withdrawal from the contest and asked his supporters to cast their votes for the reelection of M. Poincaré.

Senators and deputies, after the caucus in which Paul Deschanel, president of the chamber, led the campaign by 19 votes, generally expressed the opinion that the vote means the elimination from public life of the father of victory.

Premier Clemenceau's friends are already searching for another candidate to replace him. M. Poincaré is reported to have refused to accede to the demand of a deputation of senators that he be a candidate for reelection.

Never before in the history of presidential elections in France has a plan of campaign been attended by a large number of deputies and senators, 821 out of 924 being present. M. Deschanel stands as the candidate of the senate, the chamber and senate—all the parties.

REB WAR IN PERSIA AND INDIA FEARED BY GREAT BRITAIN

(By Associated Press.)
London, Jan. 16.—Attention of the British people is fixed on the near future by the news that the successes have carried the Red Russian armies almost up to the threshold of India, Persia, Mesopotamia, and Asia Minor. Cabinet members and chiefs of the British army and navy are today in Paris, whether to help in the new campaign or to confer with Premier David Lloyd George on military and naval matters in connection. It is believed with conditions in southwestern Asia.

Apprehension was aroused by the issuance of a semi-official statement yesterday stating that the situation that has arisen through the collapse of General Denikin's army in southern Russia and bolshevik penetration into the Caucasus, Persia, Turkey, and Afghanistan were threatening.

Soviets Near Black Sea
In Mesopotamia, the British are forced to contend with difficulties arising from racial dissension. It was said that a soviet advance that would have been made toward the Black Sea virtually a Russian bolshevik lake and it was further indicated that Great Britain could hope for little help from the new republics of Georgia, Daghestan, and Azerbaijan which are directly in the path of the soviet advance.

While there is a possibility the bolsheviks may launch an overwhelming attack against Poland, the statement issued yesterday showed the greatest pre-occupation of the British government was over the debacle of Denikin's armies and the rapid advance of the soviet forces toward the Persian and Afghan frontiers.

The situation which now confronts Great Britain and more or less Japan and China is not of sudden growth. During the two months since the bolsheviks have had an almost unbroken series of successes which have swept them forward on all fronts where their forces are believed to be formidable.

Kolchak's Army Defeated
Admiral Kolchak's army in Siberia seems to have been completely defeated, it is not dispersed. The reds are today far east of Krasnoyarsk and are moving nearer Irkutsk. Adversaries have indicated the bolsheviks have established themselves southward near the Mongolian frontier.

Further to the southwest the soviet forces have passed Almaty and are believed to have moved southward toward the frontier of Chinese Turkestan. The capture of Belgorod, 200 miles from the Afghan border, was announced from Moscow a week ago and it was said Krasnoyarsk on the eastern shore of the Caspian sea was firmly in the hands of the red forces. Thus from the Yenisei river to the Caspian, a distance of more than 2,200 miles, the bolsheviks seem to be firmly established. From this line it would appear they might be able to carry incursions to China to the southeast of Afghanistan and Persia to the south.

Odessa is virtually hemmed in by the reds, who have moved southward until they have drawn their lines across the base of the Crimean peninsula from Nikopol to Melitopol.

Swan Song For Demon Rum Is Chanted; Strict Regulatory Ban To Squelch All Violators

Power of Enforcement Vested in Internal Revenue Bureau; Supply of Liquor Unexhausted as End Draws Near.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, Jan. 16.—Constitutional prohibition, becomes effective at midnight tonight.

From 12:01 a. m. the "manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes," is prohibited by the 18th amendment to the constitution. The United States becomes the first nation of the world to make such a provision part of its basic law. Congress has defined an intoxicating liquor as any beverage containing one-half of one percent, or more, of alcohol.

Actually, the advent of constitutional prohibition will make little difference in the daily life of the people of this country, as they have been living under the nation-wide war-time ban on alcoholic drinks since last July.

Thousands of gallons of whiskey remain in bonded warehouses with no chance to be sold at prevailing high prices. The liquor can be taken out only for medicinal and scientific uses by the Bureau of Internal Revenue exerting extreme precautions to see that none of it is used in violation of the law. During the last two months, many owners of alcoholic liquors, foreseeing no opportunity for sale in this country, have endeavored to rush the surplus to other countries. Lack of shipping space prevented more than a fraction being exported. Cuba and the Bahamas have received most of what was received abroad. There were 70,000 gallons on hand when war-time prohibition went into effect. The amount exported is not known, but is probably less than 20,000 gallons.

Dry Law

Green Bay, Jan. 16.—The federal prohibition director for the state of Wisconsin, Thomas A. Delaney, Green Bay, gave out the following information in regard to the constitutional prohibition and enforcement legislation effective at midnight tonight.

The constitutional amendment becomes effective January 17, 1920 at 12:01 a. m. from and after which date alcohol, brandy, whiskey, rum, gin, beer, ale, porter, wine, or any spirituous, vinous, malt or fermented liquor, liquids and compounds, whether manufactured, proprietary, patented or not, and by whatever name called, which contains one-half of one percent or more of alcohol by volume and which are fit for beverage purposes may not be manufactured.

Liquor for non-beverage purposes, may be manufactured, purchased, sold, furnished and used in any quantity for medicinal, scientific and other purposes, provided permits under regulations prescribed by the commissioner.

The prohibition law now in effect is to be construed liberally, to the end that the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage may be prevented.

The fine for the first offense for selling for beverage purposes, the articles mentioned above, is not more than $1,000, or imprisonment for not exceeding six months. The second or subsequent offense shall be punished by a fine of not less than $200 nor more than $2,000 and imprisonment for not less than one month nor more than six months.

Where permits are given to purchase liquor, the same shall be in effect for not exceeding 90 days, and the permits shall show the kind of liquor to be purchased, and the purpose for which it is to be used.

Mrs. Joseph Fish, on South Shore Drive, where hailing the success of his latest achievement, the recently produced grand opera, Rip Van Winkle.

The party had attended a theater. Mr. De Koven took a merry part in the festivities and notwithstanding that he was indisposed after a dance he seated himself and chatted about his work.

"This is a wonderful time for me," he said. "Rip Van Winkle pleases the public immensely."

The music started again but he did not leave the room. He leaned back on the couch on which he was sitting.

Dr. Ludwig Simon hurried to his side, made a hasty examination and told the merry party that his chief guest was unconscious from apoplexy.

"He was dead within ten minutes after the stroke," said Dr. Simon.

DE KOVEN, OPERATIC CONDUCTOR, IS DEAD

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, Jan. 16.—Reginald De Koven, famed as the composer of Robin Hood and other operas, songs, and symphonies, died at his home, 1000 North Dearborn, at 10:15 p. m. today, after a long illness.

Statisticians were silent as to the exact shrinkage in the liquor supply here as the result of last night's well attended preliminary services, but it was admitted that there was enough given to provide for a similar nature in New York. But the mourners declared that last night's affair was only a "tuning up" provided for the purpose of preparing liquor brought almost unbelievably high prices but that apparently was the least of the worries of the thirsty.

Churches Observe Passing.
While the swan song for demon rum is being chanted tonight, there will be religious observances of a different character in many churches. Special services will be held and chimes at midnight will ring out the old and bring in the new.

Officials as a rule managed not to be looking at the long "package parade" today, but solemn warnings were issued by Col. Daniel L. Porter of the United States internal revenue service that the law would be rigidly enforced in every particular after midnight.

Revenue Bureau Is Club

Enforcement of constitutional prohibition was lodged by congress with the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Commissioner Roper has established an entirely separate division in the Bureau of Internal Revenue for the enforcement of prohibition, headed by John F. Kramer, Mansfield, Ohio. He will have under him several supervisors in charge of as many districts, a director in each state and a mobile force which can be shifted from place to place as conditions demand.

Asks Public to Help

Mr. Roper has made plain that enforcement demands largely on local sentiment and has appealed to citizens of the United States to give their cooperation to upholding the law of the country.

Approximately $500,000,000 in taxes has been collected annually on alcoholic beverages which now have to be obtained by the government in some other way.

Ready for Final Obsequies

New York, Jan. 16.—The bittersweet fraternal nature of the liquor supply here as the result of last night's well attended preliminary services, but it was admitted that there was enough given to provide for a similar nature in New York. But the mourners declared that last night's affair was only a "tuning up" provided for the purpose of preparing liquor brought almost unbelievably high prices but that apparently was the least of the worries of the thirsty.

SEVEN MORE SIGN UP FOR GUARD; SGT. WOOD COMING

Seven new applications for membership in the national guard unit were received last night. Members of the unit were hosts at a smoker and lunch to which all men interested in the new organization were invited.

At 9 o'clock mess call was sounded and a lunch of sandwiches, pickles, doughnuts and coffee was served.

Plans for the final drive for recruits were discussed and it was decided that each member should be required to secure one recruit. It is expected this will secure a number in excess of the minimum necessary for organization.

After a short impromptu drill, at which many of the veterans found out how much they had forgotten, recruits were shown, taps sounded and all was quiet.

Sergeant E. Wood, U. S. A., formerly first lieutenant in Company "A," has been detailed on special duty as instructor for the Wisconsin National Guard.

Sergeant Wood has been temporarily assigned to assist in the organization of the new unit of the guard in Janesville. He will assist in recruiting activities at once. Cleaning Silverware for Pay

By Belle Case Harrington

Almost everybody dislikes doing silver. But if the reason they will hire someone to do it for them. Ask a half dozen women whom you know to let you clean their silver once a month.

You will need a quantity of soft cloths like old cotton flannel or the tops of old stockings. Clean the silver with these cloths, and a soft brush for getting in the creases. Some skins are easily irritated by certain silver-cleaning preparations and you may need a pair of rubber gloves. Get a square of table cloth to spread on the floor when you do the work in the homes of your patrons.

1.—Take a quart of boiling water, add a half cup of soda, and a half cup of white powder which you can buy at the drug store. Add one teaspoon of household ammonia. Dip each piece of silver in this, dip into the boiling water, and then into the ammonia. Rub with a soft cloth until the tarnish is removed. Then wash in warm water and dry on soft towel.

2.—Take a good-sized aluminum kettle—the newer the better. Fill half full of soft water, add a half cup of soda, and a half cup of white powder. Put in the silver to be cleaned and bring the water to a boil for five or ten minutes. No rubbing is required, merely take out, rinse, and dry. The success of this method depends upon the chemical action of the soda and soda upon the aluminum. The water may be used many times. If the aluminum kettle is rather old, add a new pie pan or an aluminum lid to the water.

Sometimes it is hard to start the tarnish from a piece which has been polished. In such a case, there is no better way than the old-fashioned plan of putting the article in the first water poured off from a second kettle. The pieces are being cooked for the table.

Be careful not to mislay any article entrusted to you. If you have lost even a small piece, make a list of them. Ask your employer to verify it before you go. Arrange the flat silver in the cases, and wrap the pieces in tissue paper. Be prompt and reliable, and you will have all the work you can do.

Molding Artificial Ice

By Grant M. Hyde.

"How does ammonia make ice?"

"Evaporating. It freezes water near it because it has a lot of latent heat."

"What is latent heat?"

"Did you ever notice that, when some gasoline evaporates on your hand, it feels very cold? That is evidence of the latent heat of evaporation. Did you ever notice that ice will not freeze cream in the ice cream freezer until you add salt to melt the ice? That is also latent heat."

"It is one of the laws of nature that, whereas it takes some heat units to raise the temperature of a pan of water from zero to the boiling point, some more units are needed to turn it into steam—which still has the same temperature of 212 degrees. The last units that make the steam are latent heat, and the same units come out again when the steam condenses into water in a steam radiator. When water freezes, it gives off just the same latent, or extra, heat which it takes to melt ice."

"All substances show this law when passing from solid to liquid or to gaseous state—and back again. But some substances take on and give off more latent heat than others. Ammonia is used for ice-making because it handles a lot of latent heat by the evaporation of a few ordinary temperatures. Heat is necessary to enable it to evaporate, and the ammonia takes this heat from the thing being cooled."

"In a refrigeration plant, the ammonia is first compressed by a pump into liquid form, then allowed to evaporate in a coil of pipes which is placed in the refrigerator. The brine, thus cooled to very low temperature, is run through pipes in the refrigerating room or other places that are to be cooled. In most ice-making plants it runs through pipes encircling a tank of water that freezes the water."

"Although ammonia is most commonly used, other substances are sometimes employed, and other methods of using ammonia are in vogue."

FIVE SUPERVISORS FROM BELOIT MAY SOON LOSE OFFICE

Redistricting of the city of Beloit into nine wards instead of five, which is expected to be done by the city council, may mean that Monday night may legislate the five members of the board of supervisors from that city out of office. The unusual situation was brought before the board of supervisors today when W. S. Perigo made a short farewell address before adjournment of the board on April 1.

It is a question in the minds of many whether it is quite the proper thing to put a man out of office before his term is out. District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie is of the opinion that the present incumbents have the right to remain in their seats until their term expires. My representation, he said, is to appoint new men.

While Mr. Perigo is willing to abide by the belief that I am to be out of public office, Simon Smith, for 40 consecutive years a member of the board and its oldest member, is of the opinion that the city should not be so hasty in its action. He said that he intends to be present and sit through the April session.

"When I was in the state legislature," he said, "Rock county was reapportioned into two districts thus putting me theoretically out of office. But I do not think the city can pass any such act putting out its chosen representatives, although it might advise us to resign. I am not going to sing and I am not going to sing and I am not going to sing."

The men who are expected to be elected to the board are J. H. Russell, B. D. Treadway, and Neil Benson.

BOARD TURNS DOWN $10,000 OFFER FOR OLD JAIL PROPERTY

A second offer was made to the county board of supervisors yesterday by representatives of the Lewis Knitting company to purchase the old county jail property despite the fact that on Wednesday the board turned down a proposal of $6,000. The new figure was $10,000.

As on the previous day considerable discussion followed. It was thought out that it was true that the reason for the offer was because the Samson people desire the Knitting property for its growing plants here, then the county has a good reason to hold on.

"The fact that the agent in this matter asks a price he set upon it by the board, is evidence enough," said Supervisor George Woodruff, Janesville, "that it is worth something. The fact that the Durant people are interested in the property is sufficient to show that the county should hold on."

While the arguments were thrown back and forth, the county board of selling. Supervisor Simon Smith injected a new phase, by declaring that "as much as prices in Janesville are going up, a property might as well be retained, stating that if the old jail is sold, the money

Gilbert Olsen Gains 26 Pounds

"I have thrown my crutches and came away since I began taking Tanlac, and I have gained twenty-six pounds in weight and actually feel twenty years younger," was the remarkable statement made by Gilbert Olsen, a well-known employee of the Federal Furber Co., at Cudahy, Wis., who lives at 405 Greenfield ave., Milwaukee, Wis.

"I don't believe any man living ever had a worse case of rheumatism than I had," continued Mr. Olsen, "why, for ten long years I was tortured with rheumatic pains all through my body. I would work a few days be laid up maybe for weeks—work a few days again and then be laid up for weeks again, yes, sir. I would be working at the bench when a rheumatic spell would strike me through the knees and I would fall to the floor. Just like I had been hit by a streak of lightning. The rheumatism was all over my body—in my feet, up my legs and knees, in my shoulders, down my elbows and in my wrists and hands. Ordinarily I wore a number seven shoe but my feet would swell so bad that I would have to split open a number eleven slipper when the shoes were at their worst stage. Sometimes the pains would strike me through the shoulders and no matter what I had in my hand it would drop to the floor for I lost my grip, and if I started to move around just a little the pains were so awful they felt like they would kill me. At times when I worked at the press I would have to help my right arm up to the lever with the aid of my left arm, and at other times my left arm was worse than my right and I would have to help my left arm up and down again the same way. When I got home I could not be comfortable at night. I would ache all over and try all positions for a few minutes—in a chair, on the floor or lying on the bed, and as I said sometimes I would be laid up for weeks in bed. My wife had to dress me and put on my slippers and at times my legs were so swollen that my trousers wouldn't come up over my knees. When these spells came on me I had to limp on crutches or hobble about on two canes, and if I stepped on any little thing like a piece of gravel a pain would immediately shoot straight to my heart. I lost my appetite, was never hungry, was a complete wreck and fell off thirty-seven pounds in weight."

"During all these years I tried every medicine I had ever heard of, I took mud baths for two weeks, I took a full treatment from an institute in New York, and I spent hundreds of dollars, but as for the good I received I might as well have thrown the money in the streets. At last I read about Tanlac in the papers, and when I bought my first bottle that was the best investment I ever made for by the time I had finished it I was convinced that I had finally found what I had been looking for all these years. In all I took four bottles, threw my canes and crutches away and never have an ache or pain in my body. All traces of the rheumatism have disappeared and my appetite came back and, as I said, I picked up twenty-six pounds in weight. Now all this was last spring and you can see what lasting results I am getting—why, I haven't missed a day from work since then and feel better than I have in twenty years. If anybody doubts this statement just tell them I had on me and I will be more than pleased to take time to tell them just what I think of Tanlac."

will be spent, and in a year the county will have neither money nor building.

When asked today what idea the Samson Tractor company had in mind, it is thought the property of the Lewis Knitting Mills, J. E. Auten, assistant to J. A. Craig, president of the big plant, expressed surprise. He stated that he knew nothing about any such real estate negotiations. However, he did not deny that they might be in progress. He referred to Mr. Craig but the latter was out of the city today.

Crooked Trails and Straight

By William MacLeod Raine
Copyright, by G. W. Dillingham Company

"I don't aim to declare them out loud." That was all they said about it at that time. The rest of the evening was devoted to pleasure. Since their way was one for several miles Maloney and Curly took the road together next morning at daybreak. Their ponies ambled along side by side at the easy gait characteristic of the Southwest. Your picture of these two rode for an hour without exchanging a syllable. At Willow Wash their ways diverged. "They're never going to meet," said Curly, "so you later." Curly was striking for the headwaters of Dead Cow creek, where Soapy Stone had a horse ranch. About two o'clock he reached a little park in the hills, in the middle of which, by a dry creek, lay a ranch. The young man at first thought the place was deserted for the day, but when he called a girl appeared at the door. She was a young person of soft curves and engaging smiles. She had the brown cheeks of Arizona was a pink that came and went very attractively. Curly took off his dusty gray hat. "Buenos dias, señorita! I'll bet I'm too late to draw any dinner." "Buenos, señor," she answered promptly. "I'll bet you'll lose your money. You can wash over there by the pump. There's a towel on the fence." She disappeared into the house and Curly took care of his horse and washed and mounted back to the porch. He could smell potatoes frying and could hear the sizzling of ham and eggs. While he ate, the girl flitted in and out, soft-footed and graceful, replenishing his plate from time to time. Presently she disappeared and he saw her face was away hunting strays on Sunk creek, that the nearest neighbor was seven miles distant and that Soapy Stone's ranch was ten miles farther up Dead Cow. "Ever meet a lad called Sam Cullison?" the guest asked curiously.

Curly was hardly prepared to see the color whip into her cheeks or to meet the quick stabbing look she fastened on him. "You're looking for him, are you?" He shook his head. She looked at him very steadily before she spoke again. "You haven't met him yet, but you want to?" "That's it." "Will you have another egg?" Plandrau laughed. "No, thanks. Staying up at Stone's, is he?" "How should I know who's staying at Stone's?" It was quite plain she did not intend to tell anything that would hurt young Cullison. "Are you expecting to stop in the hills long—or just visiting?" "Yes," Curly answered, with his most innocent blank look. "Yes which?" "Why, whichever you like, Miss London. What's worrying you?" "I'm worried about that I'll know how to answer you." "So you know my name?" "Anything strange about that? The Bar 99 is the London brand. I saw your calves in the corral with their flanks still sore. Naturally I assume the young lady I meet here is Miss Laura London." "What do you want with Sam Cullison? Are you friendly to him? Or aren't you?" "Ladies first. Are you friendly to him?" Curly smiled gayly across the table at her. A faint echo of his pleasant began to dimple the corners of her mouth. She smiled and relaxed to their quite knew the cause of their hilarity. "Oh, you!" she reproved when she had sufficiently recovered. "So you thought I was a defective or a deeply stupid. That's certainly funny." "For all I know yet you may be one." "I never did see anyone with a disposition so dark-complected as yours. I couldn't put it down as suspicious. From his pocket he drew a copy of the Saguache Sentinel and showed her a marked copy. "That will explain what I'm doing up on Dead Cow." "This is what Laura London read: 'From Meas comes the news of another case of bold and flagrant rustling. On Friday night a bunch of horses belonging to the Bar Double M were rounded up and the thieves made their escape to this city. The stolen animals were sold here this morning after which the buyers set out at once for the border and it is claimed that the rustlers were members of the notorious Soapy Stone outfit. Two of the four were identified. It is alleged that the rustlers are generally known as 'Bad Bill' and a young vaquero called 'Curly' Plandrau.'"

"In case the guilty parties are apprehended the Sentinel hopes an example will be made of them that will deter others of like stamp from a practice that has of late been far too common. Lawlessness seems to come in cycles. Just now the southern tier of counties appears to be suffering from such a sporadic attack. Let all good citizens unite to stamp it out. The time has passed when Arizona must stand as a synonym for anarchy."

She looked up at the young man breathlessly, her pretty eyes staring at him. "You're talking him in my sleep. A question trembled on her lips.

"And you're a rustler? Why do men do such things?" "Letting the men do the talking, Curly, I'll let her lap helplessly. "You don't look bad. Anyone would think."

Her sentence trailed out and died away. She was still looking at Curly, but she could see that her mind had flown to some one else. "I would have bet a month's pay that she was thinking of another lad who was wild but who took her."

Plandrau rose and walked round the table to her. "Much obliged, Miss Laura. I'll shake hands on that with you. You're a good girl. I'm glad to see you. I hate to admit it, but I can't but say more than he is."

"She gave him a quick shy look. "You mean that 'Bad Bill'?" "You know who I mean, all right. His name is Sam Cullison. And you needn't tell me where he is. I'll find him."

"I know you don't mean any harm to him. But she said it as if she were pleading with him. "Great. I don't. Can you tell me how to get to Soapy Stone's ranch from here?" "Miss London?"

She laughed. Her doubts were vanishing like mist before the sunshine. "Good guess. At least he was there last night. I expect your information is pretty recent."

That drew another little laugh, accompanied by a blue. "I have told you enough for one day. Mr. Plandrau?" "That 'Mr.' sounds too solemn. My friends call me 'Curly.' He let her know."

She remembered that he was a stranger and a rustler and she drew up stiffly. This pleasant young fellow was too mild. "If you take this trail to the scrub pines above, then keep due north for about four miles, you'll strike the trail creek again. Then follow the trail creek up to the horse ranch."

With that she turned on her heel and walked into the kitchen. "Curly had not time to be 'fresh.' He was ready for her foxy sort of go to too far. Now he blamed himself for having moved so fast. He had offended her sense of what was the proper thing.

There was nothing for it but to saddle and take the road.

Dinner Stories

"Are you sure, dear, that you are economizing as much on the table as possible?"

"Dear me, yes. Why, it is only costing us twice as much as it did before the war."

Some time ago a distiller bought a beautiful estate in the country, and after having the house rebuilt to suit his taste he called it "The Place." He called it "The Place."

Nothing that he could think of appealed to him, so he decided to consult a friend.

"Say, Eli," said he, going into the office of a friend one afternoon, "I want you to help me out of a hole."

"All right," said Eli, "I'll do it. State the case and you will find me right on the job."

"I want a fitting name for that new place," Eli answered, "I've considered a hundred, but none of them seems to do."

"That's an easy one, old man," was the smiling response of the friend. "What's the matter with calling it 'Alico Hall'?"

A small boy of the Jewish persuasion who was playing at the end of the pier fell into the sea and was only rescued after difficulty by an intrepid swimmer, who dived off the end of the pier and succeeded in getting the boy into a rowboat.

Half an hour afterward, much exhausted by his effort, the rescuer was walking off the pier when a man came up and tapped him on the shoulder.

"Are you the man who saved my son Ike's life?" he said.

"Yes," answered the much exhausted hero, "I saved him."

"Then," said the Hebrew in indignant tones, "were's his cap?"

Just Yellow Mustard for Backache, Lumbago

Grandmother's old mustard plaster or poultice generally brought relief almost instantly in the severest cases, but it burned and blistered like blazes.

"Frost" cases pain" reduces the inflammation and soothes congestion but you'll find that while Boggs' Mustard is made of true yellow mustard and other pain destroyers is just as hot as the old fashioned plaster it is much quicker, cleaner and more effective and cannot blister.

It's a great external remedy—just rub it on whenever aches, pains, rheumatism, congestion or swelling exists and in a very few minutes the relief you have longed for surely arrives because "Heat eases pain." 20 and 60 cents.

MARRIED?

I SHOULD SAY NOT—WHEN SHE'S READY, THE MAN SHE MARRIES MUST BE BRILLIANT—REFINED.

THE WISHING PLANE

Jack and Jane and Captain Brave and Ladydear spent the rest of the day seeing as much of Peking and the queer Chinese folk as they could and buying the last presents to take home with them. And shortly after sunrise next morning they were in the plane again, headed straight for the Pacific ocean and America.

Jack and Jane were overjoyed when they found that they were really going to complete their trip around the world, although they were called home suddenly.

"We're going straight on, across Japan, over the Pacific ocean to the Hawaiian Islands and then over the ocean again to San Francisco. From there we'll fly direct to Make Believe town," said Captain Brave.

"Are you going to stop in Hawaii long?" asked Jack.

"Just long enough to do one thing which we haven't done all the time we've been making the trip around the world," answered Captain Brave. "Wonder if you can guess what that is?"

Now you'll admit that that was a pretty hard question to answer. For, as far as Jack and Jane knew, they had done and seen everything that two little folks could wish for or know about. So they had to give up.

"Well, we're going to go in bathing at Honolulu, the most wonderful bathing place in the world," answered the captain.

"You and Ladydear and Jane and I—all of us," said Captain Brave.

And Captain Brave kept his promise. For, next day when the plane slid to the ground at the capital of the islands, Captain Brave and Ladydear and the children went down to the great bath houses and in a few minutes later were all dressed in bathing suits ready for the water.

They walked along the beach for several minutes watching the native boys and girls swimming and diving. Such diving Jack and Jane never had seen. Little folk no bigger than Jack and Jane dove from high platforms.

What Is Rheumatism? Why Suffer from It?

Sufferers Should Realize That It Is a Blood Infection.

Doubtless like other sufferers, you have often asked yourself this question, which continues to remain unanswered.

Science has proven that Rheumatism is caused by a germ in your blood, and the only way to reach it is by a remedy which eliminates and removes these little pain demons. This explains why liniments and lotions can do no permanent good for they cannot possibly reach these germs, which infect your blood by the millions.

S. S. S. has been successfully used for Rheumatism for more than fifty years. Try it to-day, and you will find yourself at last on the right track to get rid of your Rheumatism. For treatment of your individual case address Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. 43, Atlanta, Ga.
